Dear John Wingo and Felicia Wingo,
This letter serves as formal [illegible]

On 10/28, it was determined that Felicia Wingo, the child's grandmother, engaged in a physical altercation with a CPCD employee, which constitutes a serious breach of CPCD's code of conduct and safety policies.
As a result of this incident and the violation of the outlined expectations, Felicia Wingo is no longer permitted to:

- Pick up or drop off the child at CPCD
- Attend CPCD or CPCD-affiliated programming
- Be present on CPCD property

The greeting names both recipients. The restriction in the second excerpt applies to Felicia.
The letter refers to an October 28 incident. The printed letter date is October 29.
The passages show the notice's wording. Its date alone does not establish delivery.

What Internal Affairs decided

Colorado Springs Police Department, letter to John Wingo, September 2, 2026. Case 26-0220.

- Commander's Comments:
  - I have reviewed the investigative memo and relevant portions of the case report and Body Worn Camera. I determined that the multiple parts of the complaint were reviewable as Use of Force, Investigative Follow-Up, and Fair and Impartial Policing. Based on our review, these were all unfounded or exonerated. The use of force did occur but was nominal to direct the subjects away from each other and to a seated position on the ground, and did not cause injury. This nominal force, during what reasonably appeared to the officers as a crime in progress, was lawful and within policy. Findings for each officer:

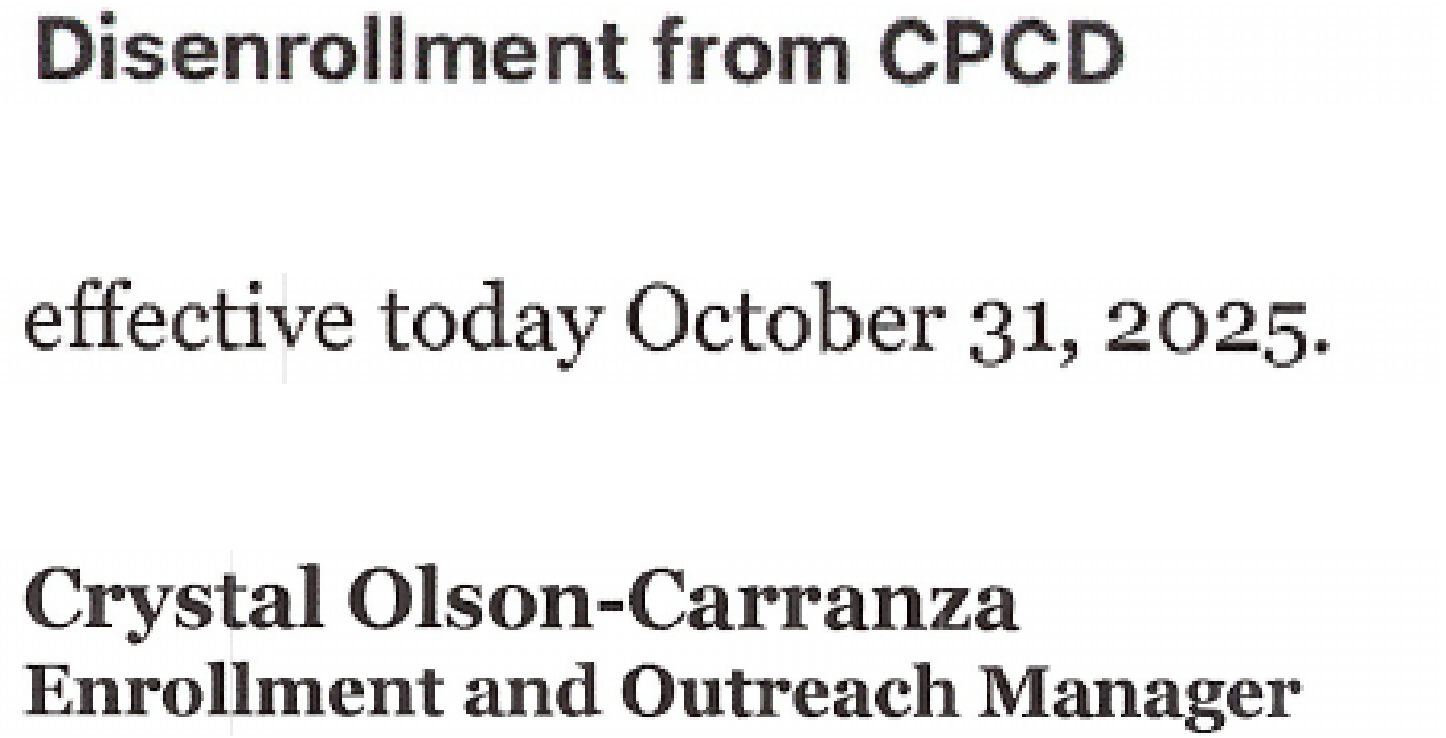

Commander's comments, page 2 of 4. The commander describes checking relevant portions of the report and body camera footage. The determination concerns the officers' conduct.

- Exonerated: The investigation determined by a preponderance of the evidence the conduct complained of did occur, but the employee's actions were justified, legal, and proper.

The letter defines "Exonerated" on page 2. Page 3 defines "Unfounded" as a finding that the misconduct did not occur. Page 4 identifies Lieutenant Owen Scott of Internal Affairs as the sender. The letter identifies neither the repair cost nor a lockdown at the college.

What three officers recorded

Colorado Springs Police Department, case 2025-00416573. Selected passages from the 22-page report.

Detective Christian Kinsman · report p. 4 and continuation on p. 5

It should be noted that due to the urgency of the situation, I was unable to access my BWC which was in a charging port and place it on my person prior to contacting Felicia. My BWC was later brought to me by another detective and secured to my person during my conversation with Felicia.

Officer Carlos Espinoza · report p. 15

Body worn camera was utilized on this call. This report is merely a synopsis of the relevant facts of the investigation. It is not intended to be a verbatim account of every individual I spoke with. This report does not reflect every word spoken by this officer, other officers, witnesses, suspects, or victims. For a verbatim account, please see body worn camera footage. This officer did not review the body worn camera footage to prepare for this report.

Detective Whitney Barrett · report p. 22

At this time, I observed that the situation remained tense, with the father continuing to express frustration and staff maintaining their position regarding access to the building. I paused my recording to confer with other responding detectives and determine the next steps.

The first excerpt continues on the following source page. The second identifies the basis of the written report. The third records Barrett’s own explanation for pausing her camera.
